V3

In version 3 the event point streak is removed and event uses standard token collection mechanic. Point streak becomes it’s own generic feature that will be implemented later.

Synopsis

Seasonal Event for 2021 Valentine. Not containing a season pass, since we have noticed some decline in performance of Season Pass events. Also this one is meant to be a shorter event that is designed to be reused later with other themes. Players complete levels and gain various degrees of progress in the event based on how many attempts the level was completed. Time pressure is present because the event is short, but it is not the same amount pressure as in multiplayer timed competitions. We can consider the base line of progression to be without any bonuses, but players are then rewarded for performing well (completing levels on as few attempts as possible).

What

- Threshold rewards
 - Season themed avatar reward
 - Challenge mode avatar reward
- Token collection mechanic
- Valentine themed, but generic backbone that can be used later with other themes
 - Jigsaw puzzle / complete the image with 12 puzzle pieces (thresholds)
- Short event, around 7 days

Why

- Some decline in performance of Season Pass events
- Provides a framework for generic, single player event
 - Easy to produce more images for the puzzle

How

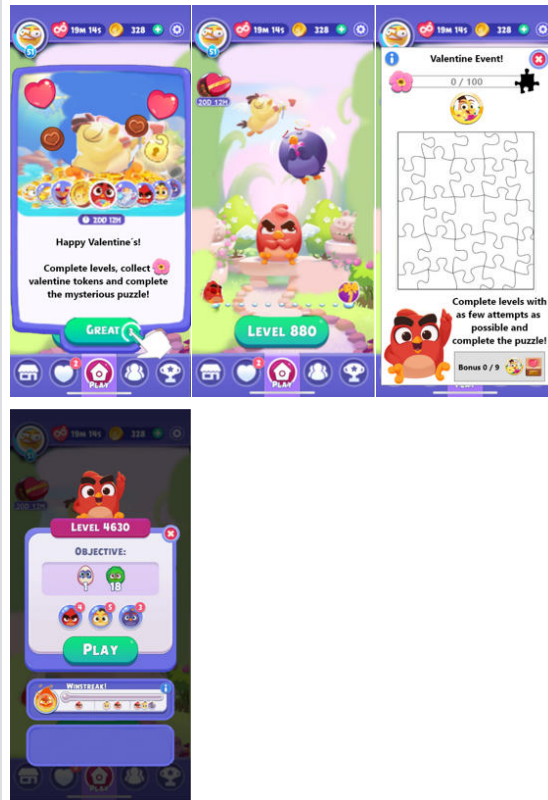

- Collect event tokens from levels
- Event popup threshold rewards
 - Jigsaw puzzle style picture reveal
 - Once all missing pieces are in place the final reward is claimed and player moves to Challenge Mode
 - All the points are now carried over to challenge mode

Starting the Event

Event starts as usual, with a event start popup

Description	Example Image(s)
-------------	------------------

- Event start popup is shown when event becomes available
 - Explains event mechanics and schedule
 - Can be closed by user
- Event badge appears in the landing screen
- Event start popup can be accessed again by tapping the event badge

Progressing in the Event

Player are awarded progression points based on how many attempts did it take to complete a level.

Description	Example Image(s)
• Completing the level allows the user to receive all collected tokens from the level • When user gets back to the landing screen, collected tokens are visualised

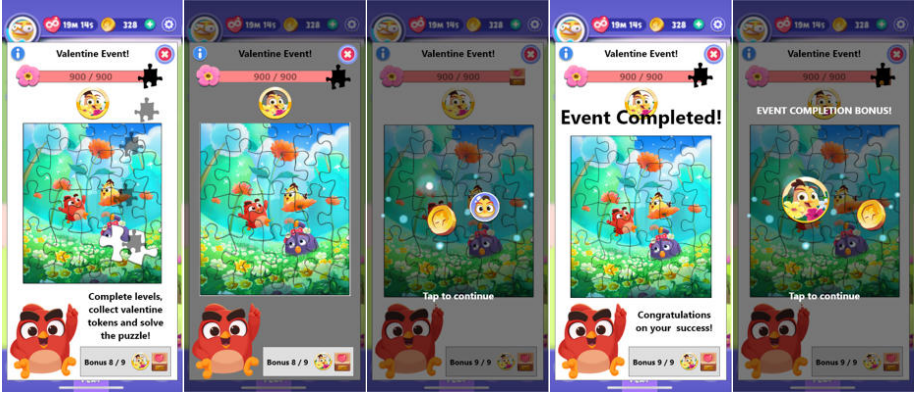

Reaching a Threshold

Player can open one of the reward boxes when they reach a threshold. Once all thresholds are reached the event is 'completed'.

Description	Example Image(s)
• When player has enough event points for the next threshold ◦ Event badge shows exclamation icon ◦ Event popup opens automatically ◦ The next jigsaw puzzle piece is added to the image ▪ Predetermined order of reveal ◦ At the same time threshold rewards are gained ▪ Same animation for all rewards ▪ New custom animation ▪ Tap to continue? • Rewards are claimed as normal

Completing the Event

When all the thresholds have been reached, event is 'completed' and Challenge Mode unlocks

Description	Example Image(s)
- When the last threshold is reached - Final puzzle piece is added, revealing the whole picture - Reward for threshold is gained as usual - Tap to continue - Custom animation - Event is now in 'complete' state - Player gets end of event rewards (avatars etc.) - Custom animation - Tap to continue - Challenge Mode becomes available

Challenge Mode

Challenge Mode Unlocks automatically when the main part of the event is 'completed'

Description	Example Image(s)
Challenge mode is unlocked after the main event is completed - Players continue scoring points per token collected - As usual, whoever has scored the most points in the bucket when the event ends, wins the bucket - Winner get medals and avatars	TBD

Requirements

New Features

- Jigsaw puzzle / complete image
 - Not entirely new idea, follows same principles as Halloween, but visually different
 - Adding pieces to an empty image
 - How many we can fit in one frame will have to be experimented with
 - Need to figure out easy and effective pipeline for this so we can reskin at ease

Art

With potential reskin in mind:

- Event background
- Event start popup art
- Event popup art
- Jigsaw Puzzle
- Two avatars (one regular, one challenge)
- Points icon (hearts?)
- Custom opening animation for previously mentioned
- Challenge mode banner and other related art

Audio

- Valentine is once a year and very short so probably no need for custom music
- ???

Configs

- Requirements for thresholds
 - Rewards per threshold
- Scheduling
- Token spawn rules

V2

Synopsis

Seasonal Event for 2021 Valentine. Not containing a season pass, since we have noticed some decline in performance of Season Pass events. Also this one is meant to be a shorter event that is designed to be reused later with other themes. Players complete levels and gain various degrees of progress in the event based on how many attempts the level was completed. Time pressure is present because the event is short, but it is not the same amount pressure as in multiplayer timed competitions. We can consider the base line of progression to be without any bonuses, but players are then rewarded for performing well (completing levels on as few attempts as possible).

What

- Threshold rewards
 - Season themed avatar reward
 - Challenge mode avatar reward
- Various degrees of rewards from level completion, based on amount of attempts
 - Each first attempt completion increases bonus like in win streak
 - Each loss decreases bonus, like in win streak
- Valentine themed, but generic backbone that can be used later with other themes
 - Jigsaw puzzle / complete the image
- Short event, maybe around 7 days

Why

- Some decline in performance of Season Pass events
- Provides a framework for generic, single player time pressure event that rewards level completions with as few attempts as possible
 - A bit like Medal Race from Homescapes, but solo race against time
 - Flipped concept to be more positive (win streak style)
 - Transforms into a PvP competition after the solo part is done (Challenge Mode)

How

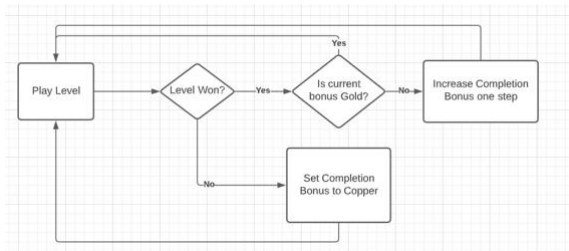

- Collect event points from level completions
- Each first attempt success increases completion bonus by one step
 - 4 steps total
- Each loss decreases the bonus completion
 - Either one step or all the way to lowest tier, depending on some other A/B test results

- Event popup threshold rewards
 - Jigsaw puzzle style picture reveal
 - Once all missing pieces are in place the final reward is claimed and player moves to Challenge Mode
 - All the points are now carried over to challenge mode

Completion Streak Tiers

Instead of losing the bonus if not completed on first try, each first try in a row increases the completion bonus like in the standard win streak. More positive experience in general.

- Completion bonus starts from Copper
- Increases when level is completed on the first try
- Decreases on level fail
 - Either drop back to Copper or do incremental decrease, like in 'generous win streak' A/B test
 - Will have to observe the results of that test
- Bonus Tiers
 - Copper 3pts
 - Bronze 5pts
 - Silver 7pts
 - Gold 10pts

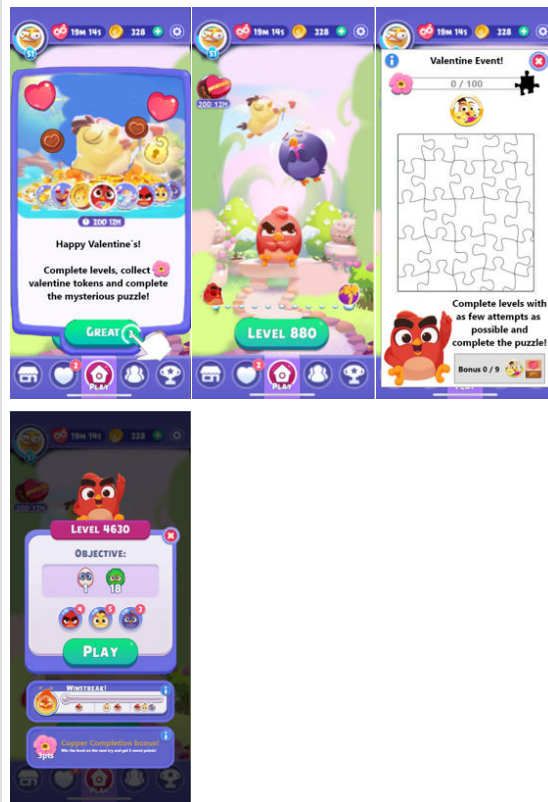

Starting the Event

Event starts as usual, with an event start popup

Description	Example Image(s)
-------------	------------------

- Event start popup is shown when event becomes available
 - Explains event mechanics and schedule
 - Can be closed by user
- Event badge appears in the landing screen
- Event start popup can be accessed again by tapping the event badge

Progressing in the Event

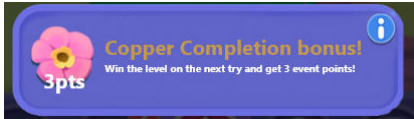

Player are awarded progression points based on how many attempts did it take to complete a level.

Description	Example Image(s)
• Players are awarded event points on level completion • Amount of points is based on the completion bonus tier ◦ Gold 10pts ◦ Silver 7pts ◦ Bronze 5pts ◦ Copper 3pts ▪ Why not 1 point? It is nicer to get more than less, three flying tokens also look better than one • These points then count towards the threshold rewards

Tiers of Success

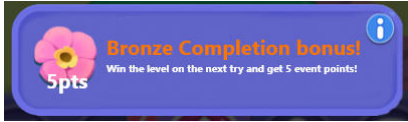

Visualized in the level start, level restart and loss aversion popups as a Event Completion Bonus Banner. If player does not complete a level on the first try, they drop to silver and so on. They can never drop out of copper though, which ensures everyone can progress in the event.

Copper, 3 points

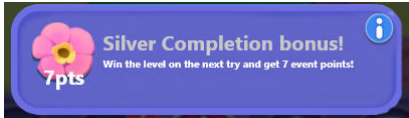

- Even if player fails, they keep the Copper Bonus
- If player wins, increases to Bronze

Bronze, 5 points

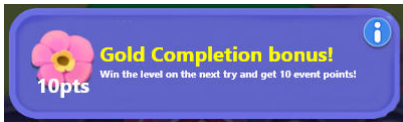

- If player fails, drops to Copper
- If player wins, increases to Silver

Silver, 7 points

- If player fails, drops to Bronze
- If player wins, increases to Gold

Gold, 10 points

- If player fails, drops to Silver
- If player wins, stays in Gold

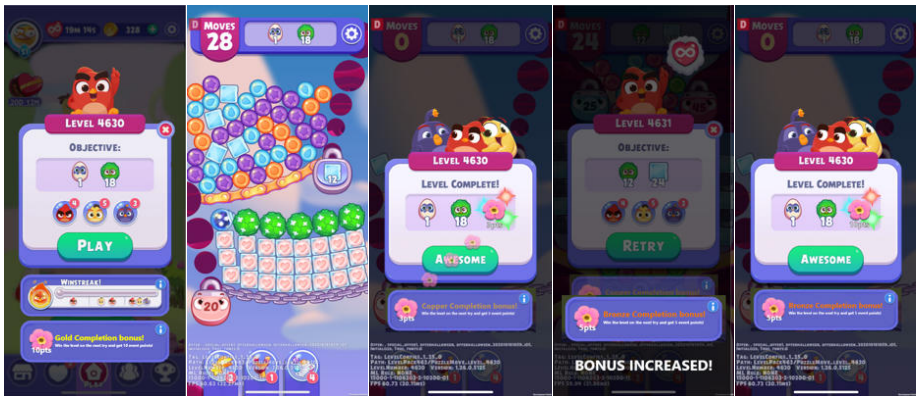

UI/UX Concepts:

When a player completes a level, they always start the next level with the one step higher completion bonus tier, unless it is Gold.

Completing a level

-------------	------------------

- When a player successfully completes a level - Event completion bonus applied as fit - Visualized in level complete screen - Tokens fly from completion bonus banner to 'things you gained' field - When back to landing screen, level completion points fly to event badge as usual - Completion Bonus Increases with one Step
--	--

Failing a level

Description	Example Image(s)
- When player fails a level - Player is reminded of the bonus in loss aversion screen "Are you sure, you will lose..." - Completion Bonus banner is shown at the bottom - Maybe there is a way to make it even more obvious here? - Event points to be gained are shown in the "you will lose" section - If player chooses to not continue - Completion bonus banner transforms to the next lower tier - Alternatively goes all the way to copper depending on configs we choose - Completion bonus is now effectively the next lower step - Can never go below copper - Animated transition, made to be as noticeable as possible - Level retry popup is shown - Updated state of Completion Bonus banner is shown - In this example, it went from Gold → Silver - Failing a level when the player has Copper Completion Bonus - Player keeps the Copper Completion Bonus

Reaching a Threshold

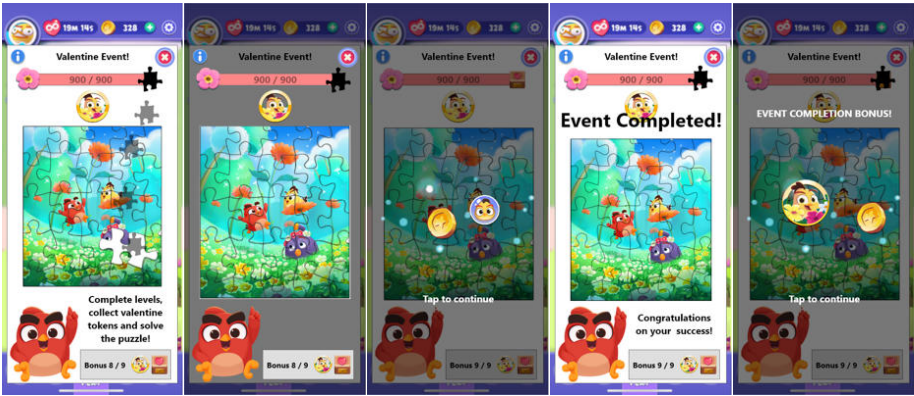

Player can open one of the reward boxes when they reach a threshold. Once all thresholds are reached the event is 'completed'.

Description	Example Image(s)

- When player has enough event points for the next threshold - Event badge shows exclamation icon - Event popup opens automatically - The next jigsaw puzzle piece is added to the image - Predetermined order of reveal - At the same time threshold rewards are gained - Same animation for all rewards - New custom animation - Tap to continue? - Rewards are claimed as normal
--	--

Completing the Event

When all the thresholds have been reached, event is 'completed' and Challenge Mode unlocks

Description	Example Image(s)
- When the last threshold is reached - Final puzzle piece is added, revealing the whole picture - Reward for threshold is gained as usual - Tap to continue - Custom animation - Event is now in 'complete' state - Player gets end of event rewards (avatars etc.) - Custom animation - Tap to continue - Challenge Mode becomes available

Challenge Mode

Challenge Mode Unlocks automatically when the main part of the event is 'completed'

Description	Example Image(s)
Challenge mode is unlocked after the main event is completed - Players continue scoring points per attempts per level completion - At this point the ruleset really becomes interesting as competition is not so binary - Players can gain a little or a lot, depending on their success - As usual, whoever has scored the most points in the bucket when the event ends, wins the bucket - Winner get medals and avatars	TBD

FTUE?

Event points system needs some explaining and probably some sort of abstraction as well.

Description	Example Image(s)
Following items need to be explained How to score and where does that score come from	TBD

Requirements

New Features

- Event Points System
 - Different amounts of points gained based on how many attempts spent on a level
 - Needs the capability of tracking attempts per level on the client?
- Jigsaw puzzle / complete image
 - Not entirely new idea, follows same principles as Halloween, but visually different
 - Adding pieces to an empty image
 - How many we can fit in one frame will have to be experimented with
 - Need to figure out easy and effective pipeline for this so we can reskin at ease

Art

With potential reskin in mind:

- Event background
- Event start popup art
- Event popup art
- Jigsaw Puzzle
- Two avatars (one regular, one challenge)
- Points icon (hearts?)
- Custom opening animation for previously mentioned
- Info popup art
 - Explains attempts and points
- Challenge mode banner and other related art
- Animation when completion bonus changes to higher or lower tier

- Valentine is once a year and very short so probably no need for custom music
- ???

Configs

- Rewards for each reward box
 - Bomb's Music Box style configs
- Requirements for thresholds
- Point yield per completion bonus tier
 - Copper (3 by default)
 - Bronze (5 by default)
 - Silver (7 by default)
 - Gold (10 by default)

Q&A

Can the user not get a level completion bonus at all?

No. Even the worst case scenario, the players always get the Copper Bonus, which equals beating the level on four or more attempts.

Does a new level always start with a copper completion bonus?

Nope. Bonus tier is dependent on player performance and can be earned and lost just like win streak.

Do the level completion bonus tiers also work in challenge mode?

This is the intention and it will make the challenge mode also more interesting in terms of competition.
