

What is the season pass

A season pass is an event where players collect tokens to progress and claim rewards. Each pass will have a different theme and for example, during October there may be a Halloween-themed pass. Players also have the option to pay for the VIP pass which will give them more rewards for completing the season pass. After completing the season pass players will unlock the challenge leaderboard where they can compete against other players to see who can collect the most tokens. Tokens will be awarded to players through completing events, and challenges for example a team vs team event will award some season pass tokens. Check the live-ops calendar to confirm which events provide season pass tokens.

If a player does not claim the items when the season pass ends they will still be added to their inventory! They will see the pop-up below. Even if they do not see the pop-up the items will still be added.

Due to the lasting success of the "Season pass"-feature we want it to be integral part of the game reoccurring monthly. Integrating Season pass well into the game allows us leverage /wiki/spaces/DRBL/pages/25705982 further which leads to increased monetization and retention. These meta screen changes proposed here alone should have a slightly positive impact on monetization and retention as a Season pass and Sales get higher priority in visualization than currently.

- Season pass feels like a permanent feature in terms of visual presentation.
- Progress towards the next reward threshold is visible in the main menu.
- Season pass reward menu and challenge mode leaderboard are accessed via Season pass bar.
- Optional: Season pass tokens can be configured to be rewarded after winning a level instead of collecting them in-game.
 - Reason: Allows other token-collection events at the same time with Season pass.

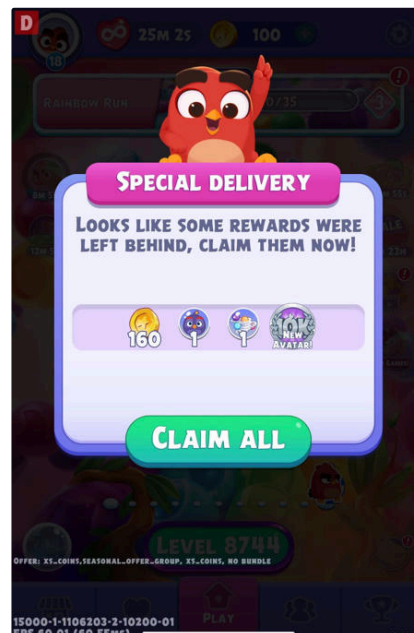

Notes for Player Support agents

- Items need to be claimed to be added to a player's inventory. Make sure the players are aware of this if they asked that they did not receive an item in their inventory.
- The items need to be claimed in the season pass in order to also add the images to the background picture.
- Once the season pass is completed all tokens should count towards the challenge leaderboard.
- Do not call it a season pass to players as they may not understand this terminology. Please refer to it by the name given in-game to the event itself. For example below the event was called Garden Party. So we could tell players: "You must reach level 30 in the garden party to collect all the available rewards"
- The amount of tokens a player receives depends on the level.
A normal level gives 10, a hard level gives 15, and a very hard level gives 20.

- Token amounts will increase towards the end of the season pass. You can find out when this happens in the live-ops calendar as you can see in the image on the right. When this is turned on in the calendar token amounts will increase to the following normal = 12, hard = 20, very hard = 30

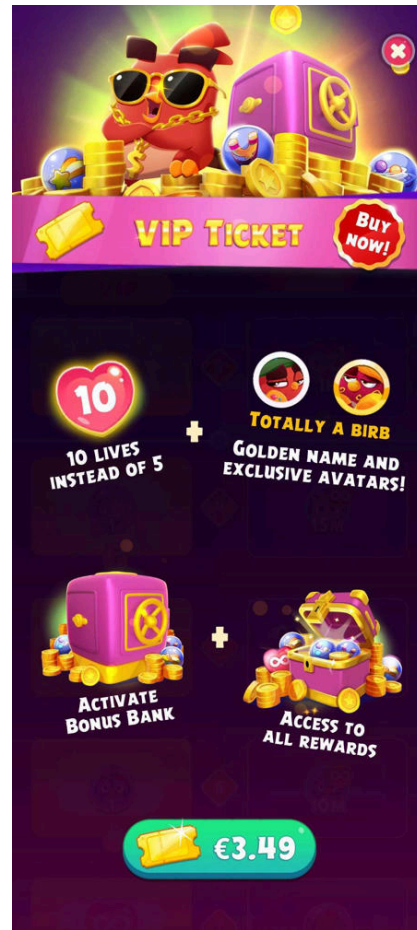

- Season pass tokens can be configured to be rewarded after winning a level instead of collecting in-game collectibles.
- Season pass tokens cannot be donated.
- Season pass tokens can be doubled through an active event on the calendar.

Season Pass Left behind rewards pop-up

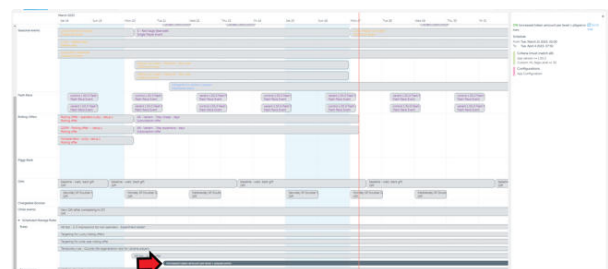

- All unclaimed and unlocked season pass rewards will be given to the player when the season pass ends.
- Players purchasing the VIP pass will have a golden name.
- When player purchases VIP Pass, their lives cap changes from 5 to 10. This does not refresh the lives amount to 10 directly, instead, player will start to generate additional lives till they hit the 10 lives cap.
 - This has caused lots of questions in tickets, macro can be found from Quick Replies → ABDB folder.

4.1 Wireframe For Pass

This candidate was chosen because it mostly resembles our current state and it serves the purpose of design requirements.

1. Avatar size is scaled down. Player level indicator is changed to a clean circle and avatar outline is adjusted to reduce size further.
 - a. More details below.
2. Season pass bar contains: name, collectible attached to progress bar, tokens currently/needed and lastly current level of the pass.
 - a. Season pass bar has three basic states: default, claim prize and challenge mode.
 - b. After player has purchased Season pass, the bar decorations are uplifted.
 - c. When player levels up and there is a prize to claim, the bar changes into "Claim prize"-mode. Once player visits Season pass reward menu, the "Claim prize"-mode is disabled. Tapping the bar directs the player to Season pass reward menu and player has to manually claim them. Additionally, the "Claim Prize"-mode is disabled when player plays a level.

- i. Force purchase screens if VIP is not purchased should remain untouched (currently triggers at 0,5,10... levels).
- ii. Experiment: Use similar indicator as in Stella's Fortune to highlight whenever prizes can be claimed.
- d. After Season pass path has been completed, the bar changes into "Challenge leaderboard"-mode. See details below.
- e. The bar can be toggled off. Event and Sales buttons below move that much higher to fill the empty space.
- f. Add analytics for opening Season pass reward menu via this bar.
3. Event buttons are scaled to same size and grouped tightly together in the left side
 - a. Optional: Adjust all event buttons to have the same frame (e.g. round).
4. Sales-button is scaled up in size, "Ads"- and "Player comms"- buttons are below it.
 - a. If there is no sales, make sure the buttons below it shift their positions correctly up.
 - b. Optional: Create a new default art for Sale-button that is more mesmerizing than "Visual Progress"-button art.
5. "Visual progress"-button is scaled down, moved to left bottom and its progress bar is removed.
 - a. More details below.
6. "New games"-button is moved right bottom. Rescale if necessary to have it look balanced with visual progression being on the other side.

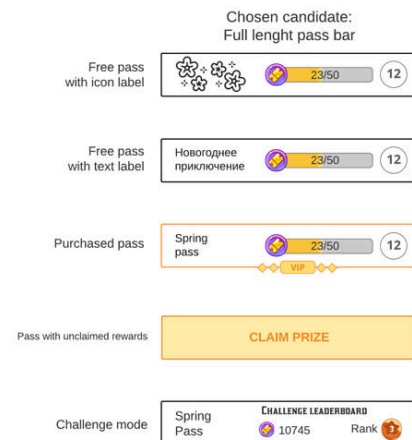

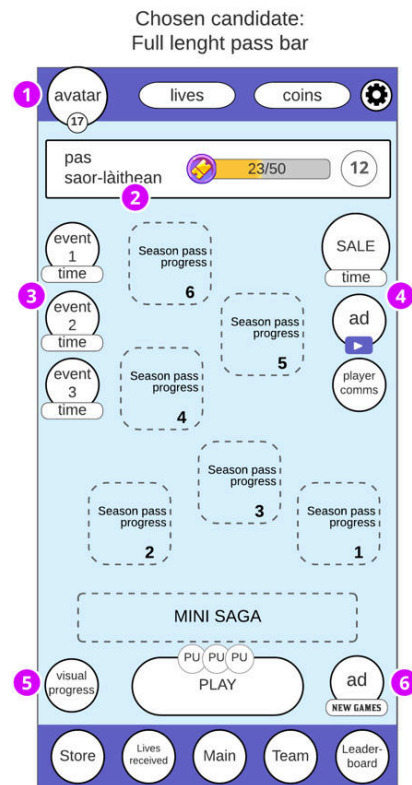

4.1.1 Details on player level & XP points flying to avatar

Player level system becomes redundant after playing the game for a certain period. Still, the "experience point"-flow is always shown increasing time between play. Changes here aim to reduce time between playing levels and to increase focus on elements we consider more important.

- To keep FTUE intact, before level 5 the experience points fly into avatar as currently.
- After player reaches level 5, the animation/particle flow of experience points being added to avatar changes. Now player has more important items to look at like events and Season pass progress.
 - New, faster flow: When player gains experience, the experience bar around avatar pulses in bright blue as it grows. This can happen at the same time with all other flows occurring after completing a level.

4.1.2 Details on Visual progress, stars and forced screen changes

The benefits of visual progression aren't that much and it encumbers our game without certainty whether its net worth is positive. To make space for Season pass bar and to direct players attention on important things, the plan is to deprioritize visual progression in UI hierarchy.

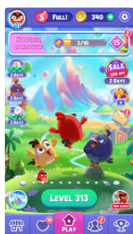

Plan is to do the following:

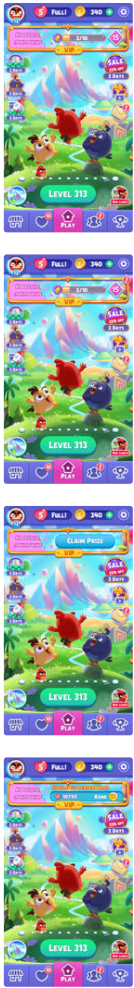

1. The button is scaled down, moved to left bottom and its progress bar is removed.
2. After level complete, star-particle doesn't fly in Visual progress button anymore but the progress is silently added in the background.
3. Player is not forced to visual progress screen unless there is a world travel animation to be played.
 - a. Rewards are opened in main meta screen if player plays there.
 - b. Rewards chests need to be added on mini saga once again.
 - c. If player plays via visual progress view then rewards are shown there.

4.2 Mockups

4.2.2 VIP

4.4 Challenge mode unlocks

 - Tapping the bar while its in Challenge-mode directs player to Challenge mode leaderboard popup.
- Season pass and Challenge mode popups will both get a new "swap"-button as shown in mockups above.
 - If a player taps the blue arrows, they can move from the challenge leaderboard to the season pass. Please let them know this if they are confused about where their claimable items went. The video on the right shows how you can switch between the challenge mode and the normal mode.

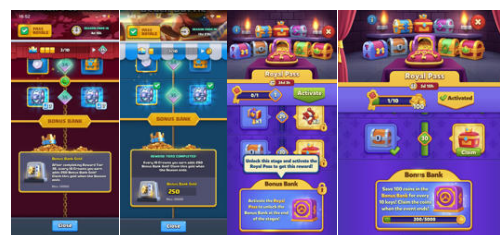

Bonus Bank

This is a feature that unlocks after the players have completed the entirety of the season pass and have purchased the VIP version of the pass.

1 Why?

- To increase conversion of players without VIP pass who have completed Season pass.
 - More rewards to be gained
 - More exposure to purchase button
- To increase retention of VIP players.
 - A non-competitive reason to keep on playing after finishing the pass.

Feature in other games

- A reason to return after Season has ended to collect the bank rewards on top of Challenge mode rewards.
- Hopes are that Bonus bank increases perceived value enough to justify price increase of Season pass.

2 What?

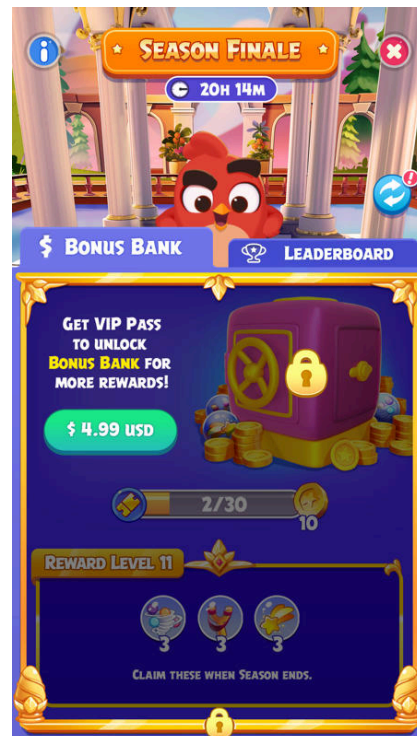

1. Every time X amount of Season Pass tokens has been collected, one reward item is put in a bank. All reward items will be given when the season ends if VIP pass has been purchased.
2. In the bottom of the track, Season pass popup advertises the Bonus Bank feature.
3. Bonus bank suggests purchasing of VIP pass.
4. Bank is visible in the main menu as part of Season pass bar.
 - a. Season pass bar is modified for these purposes (Challenge mode).
5. Bank is united with Challenge Leaderboard as Season Finale.
6. A/B-testable
7. A new last chance offer is made for VIP pass and Bank together.

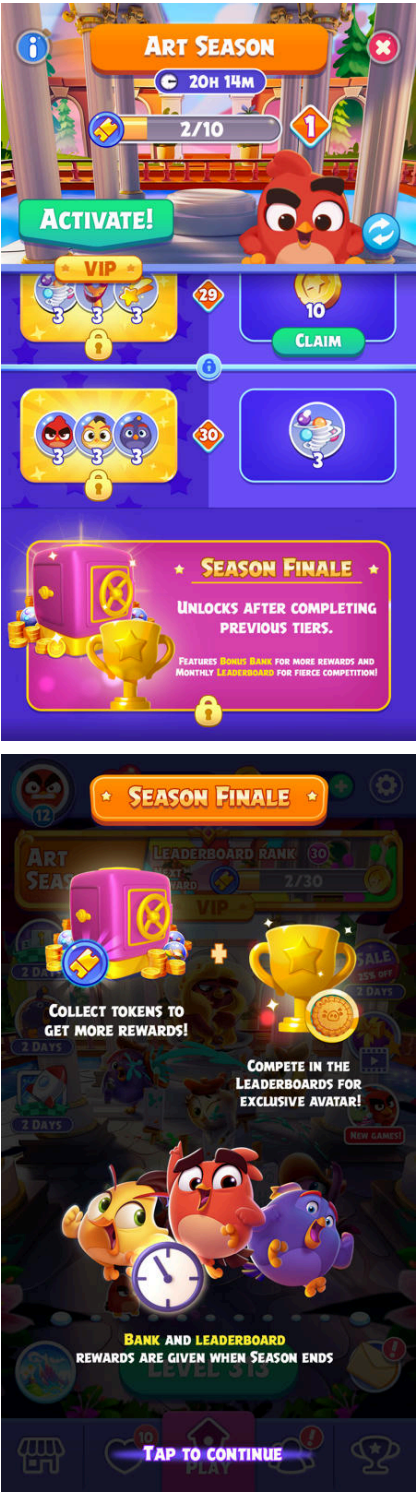

3.1 Bank, main flow look.

- Any of the usual reward items can be given.
- Only one item is given per reward level.
- There is an option that bank is capped at X level.
- Reward box needs to become scrollable to left and right if there is a big variety of rewards.
- Bonus bank can be viewed by clicking the tab bonus bank which is found by clicking the season pass banner.

Notes for PS

When the season ends it is possible that some players may not receive their rewards from the bonus bank right away. Let us inform them it may take 24 hours for the item to appear and once that time has passed we will confirm if the items have or have not been given. For players that have issues with claiming items for the bonus bank they will appear as SEASON_PASS_EVENT in the admin tool item history.

You can see what the items would like in the above screenshot.

If a player purchases a VIP pass for the season but did not receive it please first verify that they did make the purchase and then manually add the season pass to their profile.
